Like deaf snakes, these people didn't know who to listen for when it was time to plant their venomous weapons into the foliage agenda and destroy it from the inside out, constricting its interior veins with the fear of complete annihilation and decomposition.

Like blind leading the blind, Leader Cass.